

TOP STORY

Army Reserve engineer commands honor fallen Soldiers with memorial wall

By Staff Sgt. Carrie Castillo, 416th TEC PAO

DARIEN, III. – An Army Reserve engineer command headquartered in the greater Chicago area hosted a ceremony in honor of Soldiers who lost their lives in the last two decades of war-fighting operations during a memorial wall unveiling ceremony.

News Story | News Video | Chicago Tribune

Follow the 416th TEC on Social Media

NEWS

What the TEC? Redesigning Theater Engineer Commands in the Army Reserve

By Master Sgt. Michel Sauret, 416th TEC PAO

DARIEN, III. – The Army Reserve has the only two Theater Engineer Commands (TECs) across the entire Department of Defense, and they're currently undergoing a major change. News Story

Miles for Lives: Chicago ruck march held in honor of struggling vets

By Master Sgt. Michel Sauret, 416th TEC

CHICAGO – For thousands of military veterans each year, the struggles of life might feel like a lonesome march to nowhere. To bring awareness to their struggle, 450 people gathered for a 22-mile ruck march to raise awareness for veteran suicides. News Story | Video Story

Unexpected kindness

By Staff Sgt. Clifford Coy, 368th Public Affairs Detachment

SAN JUAN OPICO, El Salvador – Not only are the Soldiers from the 492nd Engineer Company building clinics in El Salvador, but one Soldier went above and beyond his mission to bring kindness to the region. News Story

Engineer company keeps it in the family

By Timothy Hale, USARC Public Affairs

CAMP RIPLEY, Minn. – “Filling spots on a roster might work for some units, but it doesn't work for me,” said Capt. Jeremy Lake, commander of the 312th Engineer Company. “I want Soldiers who want to come to the unit and stay with the unit.” News Story | Additional Full Court Press Story

